Vicar's Letter

The Church of England is celebrating this year. It's the 20th anniversary of the ordination of women as priests and it looks highly likely that by the end of the year we may have our first female bishops appointed. Twenty years ago over 700 women were ordained in cathedrals up and down the country: last month most of them gathered in St Paul's cathedral for a service of celebration. They received a rapturous standing ovation as they entered the packed cathedral, each bearing within them the joys and burdens of carrying their image of God's love into a world which didn't always want to see it. For a young(ish!) female priest standing in the crowd, it was an electric moment for me when I felt caught up in something so much bigger than myself and yet something so very personal to myself: my own mum was one of those pioneer women.

Among the thousands of people in the crowds that day there was a banner which read 'A woman's place is where she is called to be'. Whether it's a matter of gender, religion, race, age, sexuality, disability or any other factor, this sentiment is powerful. A phrase we use in church refers to Jesus calling us into 'the fullness of life', an experience of life which allows the exploration of our full potential, whatever that might be, and encourages our flourishing as unique, complex individuals each made in the image of God. So often the limited expectations or negative presumptions of others can prevent us from flourishing as the people we were made to be. We especially need to appreciate and encourage the potential of the young people in our communities and enable them to aspire to be the very best they can. A Christian teacher many centuries ago said 'the glory of God is a human being fully alive.' When we can live fully alive – living life to the full – then perhaps God is inclined to say exactly what Archbishop Desmond Tutu said in his official message to the women of the Church of England last month: 'Yippee!!!!'

Churchyard wall

We are very grateful to Mr Ian MacMillan who kindly allowed us to take down the old wall at North Farm so that the bricks may be used in the rebuilding of the north churchyard wall in due course. Many thanks to the Kingston Wrecking Crew: James Clear, Janet Clear, Sam Clear, Barry Marsh, and Mandy Ray.

Mary Bevan

We very much regret to record that Mary Bevan, of Longstowe Hall, died peacefully at home on the 27th April. A private, family funeral was held at St Mary the Virgin, Longstowe. There will be a service of thanksgiving at St Helena and St Mary, Bourn, on Monday 23rd June at 11am. Mary was of course devoted to Longstowe, but was also a regular worshipper here in recent years, especially at our early communion services. "We love coming to Kingston", she wrote, "because it always feels holy and happy and so we do too". R. I. P.

Church flowers for Easter

Church Open to Visitors

At our AGM the PCC decided that Kingston Church, like many others, will now be open to visitors on a daily basis, hopefully from about 10am to 7pm. We hope that many people, local and visitors, will discover something of God in our beautiful church, and find peace, beauty, solace and encouragement within its stunning walls. Do come in and enjoy the space and encourage friends and visitors to pop in too.

Parish Council News

Parish Council: by the time you read this the Parish Council will have held its first post-election meeting and elected its Chairman and other officers. After many years of service for which we are all very grateful, Simon Draper and Katherine Stalham have stood down as parish councillors. Tim Fitzjohn, Julie Conder and James Clear have been re-elected, and are joined by Trish Dunlop. A fifth councillor will be co-opted. Full information will appear in the July magazine.

Playground Workday: some 12 people put in a couple of hours hard labour on Saturday 17 May to carry out some essential maintenance jobs at the playground. All planned work was completed – many thanks to these volunteers.

Planning: S/0710/14/VC Summerhill: the applicants have applied for the addition of a carport to plot 2.

Troublesome Tomcat

Most of you will have seen the black tomcat with a bushy tail which roams Kingston from time to time. He has attacked some of our domestic cats, and following advice from a cat charity, several cat-owners in the village are making a concerted effort to trap him humanely and have him either neutered (and therefore less aggressive) or possibly re-homed.

This involves establishing a single feeding point for him, so that he keeps returning to the same spot, where a trap can then be set. We need to know;

- Is anybody feeding him regularly now?
- Does anybody know his regular haunts?

We also need prompt reports of any sightings, so that we can plan where to put out food for him.

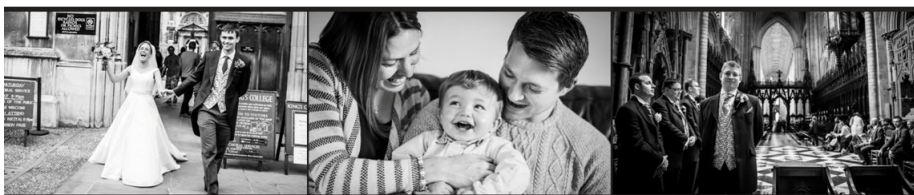

Please contact me with any information at any time, by phone, email or text.

Blanket Collection for South Africa!

Eight Comberton Sixth Form students who head for South Africa this summer are appealing for unwanted blankets.

The students will spend three weeks helping with teaching and sports day at Comberton's partner school, Edendale in Pretoria, as well as working with the local community there.

And they are hoping to distribute blankets to those in greatest need as it will be winter, where night temperatures can fall below zero, during their visit in July. Johnson Mathey, of Royston, a company with historic links to South Africa, has agreed to ship the blankets to Pretoria.

One of the students on the trip, Georgia Darby, said: "The blankets needn't be new, but we do ask that they are clean. We would be extremely grateful that if you have a spare a blanket or two, you could donate them to us and we will see that they are put to good use in South Africa."

There is a box in the main reception at Comberton Village College for donations or please contact Judy Czylok at publicity@comberton.cambs.sch.uk if you need them collected and we will endeavour to arrange that. The deadline to donate any spare blankets is June 11th.

Thank you very much for your support.

Skydiving for Parkinson's

On 4 May I jumped out of an aircraft at 12,000 ft, strapped to an instructor, and free-fell some 6000 ft before parachuting safely back to earth. I have raised more than £2000 for Parkinson's UK. My good friend Anthony, who has Parkinson's, also jumped.

The money raised will be put to good use to try and find a cure for this debilitating disease, currently incurable. If you would like to support my effort it's not too late: go to www.virginmoneygiving.com/PeterStokes and make a donation.

- * The Combat Veteran Players will perform short extracts of Henry V and selected Rupert Brooke readings.
- * Six exhibitions including photographs, documents and letters from Cambridgeshire, Belgium and France
- * Vignettes and reading of letters to and from the front * Displays from St Neots Museum
- * Expert advice on family history from Cambridgeshire Archives.
